VIKHROLI

THE STORY OF VIKHROLI

The story of Godrej began in Vikhroli, a place that holds a significant place in its history. In the 1940s, the founding fathers of the Godrej family developed a whole industrial township here with a remarkable vision to shape a new world in Mumbai. Today, that vision has manifested into reality within Vikhroli. Here, a marvellous ecosystem with the finest infrastructure, set amidst nature's rich natural canvas, is home to Mumbai's bright future.

YET CLOSE TO THE CITY'S LUNGS.

DIVE INTO THE ENDLESS
BEAUTY OF THE VIKHROLI MANGROVES.

Imagine a never-ending sea of green, where Mumbai's largest mangrove reserve invites you into the tranquil neighbourhood of Vikhroli. Known as the city's green lungs, the Vikhroli Mangroves bear witness to the dedicated stewardship of the Godrej family, that has taken to preserving nature's treasures and fostering a harmonious ecosystem for plants and wildlife to thrive.

VIKHROLI MANGROVES: A HAVEN FOR DIVERSE FAUNA

In the heart of Vikhroli lie the mangroves, a sanctuary for the city's diverse fauna. The mangrove's dense vegetation supports a thriving food chain, creating feeding and breeding grounds for a variety of fish, crustaceans, and insects, hosting endangered species, and playing the role of a nursery for marine life. Migratory and resident birds have found solace in this natural refuge, delighting birdwatchers and researchers alike. This haven is home to over 16 species of mangroves, 82 butterflies, 209 birds, 13 crabs, 7 prawns, 20 fish species, and a handful of mammals. The Vikhroli Mangroves stand as a vibrant ecosystem, preserving the richness of biodiversity in a bustling city like Mumbai.

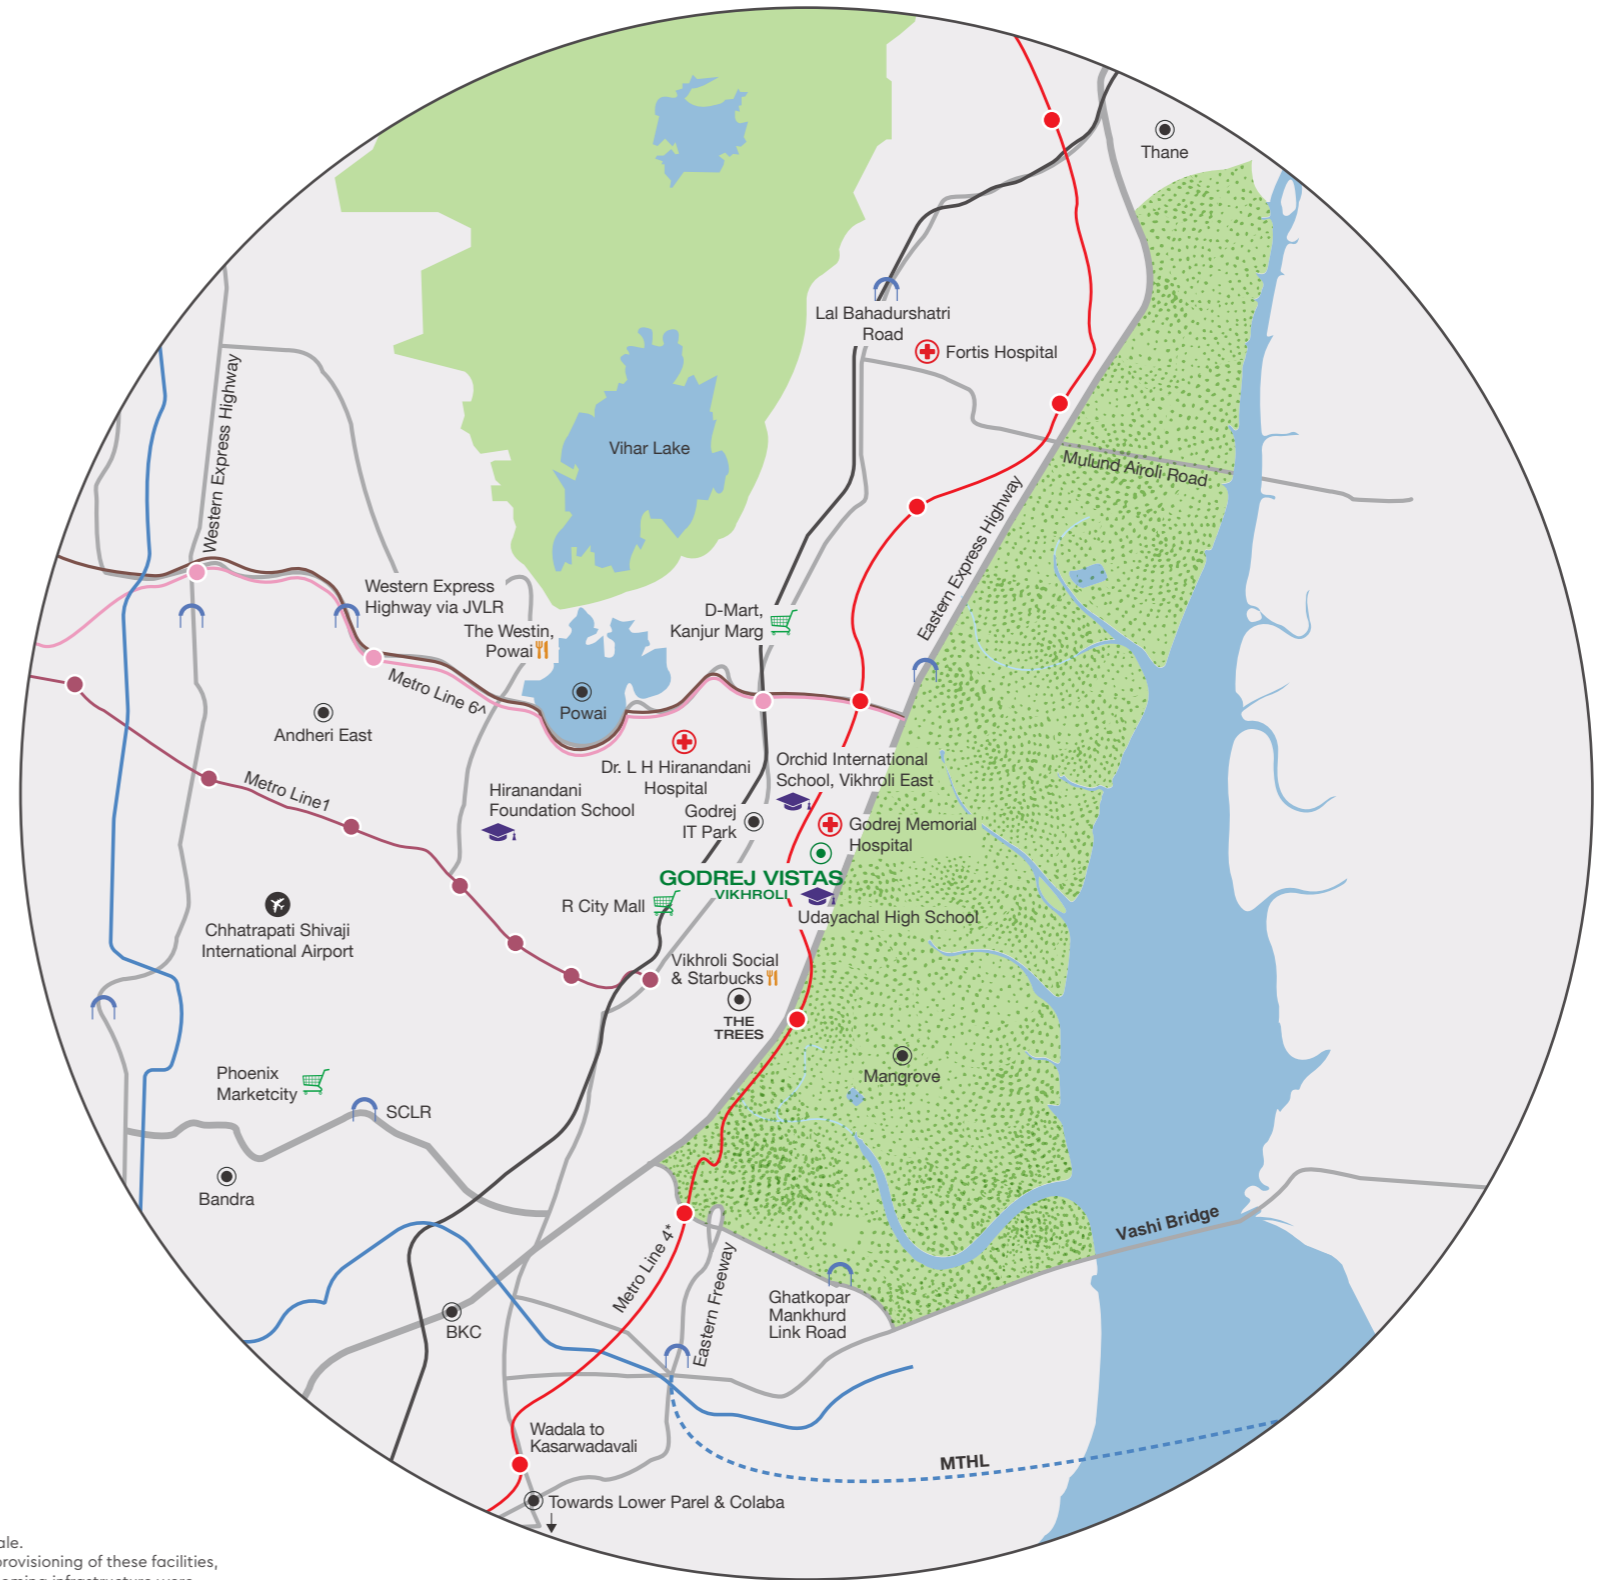

VIKHROLI MANGROVES: THE GUARDIANS OF MUMBAI'S GREEN FUTURE

In the ever-expanding city of Mumbai, the Vikhroli Mangroves imparts a crucial lesson to people. Simply put, the city's progress need not compromise its natural riches. The Vikhroli Mangrove Forest has a diverse habitat with dense forests, mudflats, water bodies and tidal ponds. With over 16 diverse mangrove species, the Grey Mangrove (Avicennia Marina) is the dominant one and accounts for 90% of the mangrove cover in Vikhroli, and the rest includes the River Mangrove, Orange Mangrove, Mangrove Apple, Sea Holly and many other species. The Vikhroli Mangroves exemplify the coexistence of urban growth and environmental preservation, presenting a model for a sustainable and resilient Mumbai.
